

New Jersey's do-not-call list is not in need of federal interference. It should be left the way it is.